

Foxcroft Academy

Private Boarding School – Dover-Foxcroft , Maine

One of the oldest private schools in America, Foxcroft Academy serves a diverse co-educational population of 410 day and boarding students in Grades 9–12. The challenging college preparatory curriculum offers 135 courses including 30 Honors and 8 AP courses.

The Academy's math and science programs exceed national standards and utilize state-of-the-art technology, while the humanities program explores the culture of an era through a study of its history, literature, art, and music. In addition to traditional subjects, students may take courses in music composition, web design, art history, economics, personal finance, ethics, and four levels of French, Latin, Spanish, and Chinese. For international students, there are three levels of ESL, including ESL Writing.

The Academy fields 32 sports teams for boys and girls, and holds several regional and state titles including current state championships in field hockey, football and wrestling and regional titles in track, cross country and baseball. Foxcroft also provides more than 20 clubs and student organizations.
